DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The amendment to the specification filed November 15, 2004 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: description of figure 14b as having the first end and second end shown as being “substantially the same size and normal to the axis” and it is questionable as to whether it is shown “of substantially the same configuration in plan view.”

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claim language does not further limit the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 14-17, and 20-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Maharg et al. (6,027,089). Maharg et al. disclose a “shim” comprising a body 80 having a first end and a second end, and an axis extended from the first end to the second end, the first and second ends being substantially planar and of substantially the same configuration, substantially the same size, and normal to the axis, the first and second ends having a length and a central width, the length being longer than the central width, at least a first surface and a second surface extending from the first end to the second end and substantially parallel to the axis, at least the first surface being arc-shaped; and a hole 82 extending from the arc-shaped surface to second surface, the body being devoid of further opening. With regard to the statement of the intended use of the “shim,” it does not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Maharg et al. which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987). The arc-shaped surface extends outwardly from the axis. The second surface is a flat surface. The hole extends from a crest of the first surface to the second surface. The first surface and the second surface are arc-shaped and opposed to each other, the first surface extending outwardly from the axis and the second surface extending inwardly toward the axis (figure 4). Maharg et al. show two substantially flat parallel surfaces extending from the first end to the second end (figure 4).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 18 and 23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
